Omega's Customer Service Sold Sideman & Bancroft LLP

SCOTTSDALE—June 15, 2011—San Francisco's Sideman & Bancroft LLP, a highly regarded California law firm, has switched to Omega Legal^{VX} to upgrade its financial and practice management system. The firm needed more flexibility in generating reports and found that, and more, with Omega.

After months of research, Ms. Sayers, Sideman & Bancroft's Controller and a former Omega user, chose Omega Legal^{VX} over other law firm software, including the one her firm had used for years. She convinced the firm's management to make the investment in the switch. "What do you need from legal accounting software?" she asked, rhetorically.

"You need simple inputting steps, swift payables and receivables processing, and most of all flexibility in generating reports—even ones that aren't 'off the shelf.' That is because law firms are 'horizontal' in management. You have ostensible 'management,' but in truth every partner is an owner, has the right to see financial information, and in fact demands to see it—each in her or his own way," said Ms. Sayers. "So, Omega's flexibility in producing reports—slicing and dicing the numbers every which way, and readability—is very important to our firm."

"We are pleased to welcome Sideman & Bancroft to the Omega family. Many of our new clients originate as internal referrals from the firm," said Don Gall, President and Founder of Omega Legal Systems, Inc. "By having employees with on-the-job experience in using Omega Legal, firms are privy to valuable first-hand knowledge of our products and customer service commitment. We look forward to partnering with Sideman & Bancroft, helping them streamline their time, billing and accounting, and growing their business with improved business intelligence."
